Fair cop: The old Wood Green police station could be used to house police teams and more cells

FITS THE BILL

Wood Green cop shop in new plan

By Rykesha Hudson

PLANS to give an empty police station a much-needed makeover in a bid to streamline policing in the borough have been revealed.

The Metropolitan Police have unveiled plans for a new police facility in Wood Green. It is expected the renovated building will include extra cells to ease the pressure off Tottenham and Hornsey police stations and will also house detectives and officers from the borough's investigation squads.

The new facility will be located on the site of the former Wood Green police station in High Road which has been dormant for almost ten months.

Police say that the new site will help bring the investigation teams into the same building which will enable prompt and efficient investigation of crime.

Borough commander Sandra Looby said: "Bringing the investigation teams and custody together would help us significantly improve the way we police the borough, free up officers to spend more time on the streets and help make Haringey safer."

The idea was first proposed in 2008, but was then withdrawn because of public opposition. Significant changes were made in response to a consultation, including retaining the entire front facade of the existing building and improving the overall external design of the building to be more in keeping with the surrounding area.

“Bringing investigation and custody together would help us free up officers to spend more time on the street.”

Detective Chief Superintendent Looby added: "The facility that we are proposing for the borough is part of a wider drive to improve policing across the capital and most importantly here in Haringey."

The plans will be presented to the public at an exhibition this Friday from 4pm-8pm and Saturday from 10am-4pm at Wood Green Police Station, 347 High Road. The exhibition will allow the public to give their opinion about the new police facility. This feedback from the public will be submitted with the application to the council.

Hospital demo group invite all to next stage of campaign

A PRESSURE group is holding a public meeting next Thursday about the future of health services in north London.

The Defend The Whittington Hospital Coalition last year highlighted plans to downgrade the hospital in Highgate.

The coalition organised a 5,000-strong demonstration against proposals to close the A&E department at the hospital in Highgate Hill, Archway, which took place on February 27 last year – it was declared a huge success and used as a blueprint for other campaigns in the UK.

The demonstration and campaign helped see the plans halted shortly before the general election.

Shirley Franklin, chairwoman of the coalition, has spoken of the new threats to the health service that Haringey residents rely on.

The coalition are holding a public meeting to discuss the new health bill that has been "paused" by Health Secretary Andrew Lansley for further consultation with GPs and clinicians, the impact of The Whittington Hospital taking on foundation status and cuts to other health services.

The meeting will be chaired by Islington MP Jeremy Corbyn.

Previously Ms Franklin told the Advertiser: "Now we're trying to raise the alert about attacks to the NHS and privatisation.

Outspoken:
Shirley Franklin

We tried to raise consciousness about this as soon as the coalition government came in but it is only now people seem to be getting more active."

□ The meeting on May 12 starts at 7pm at Archway Methodist Hall in Archway Close, N19 3TD.

PARK-LOVERS have launched a campaign to stop budget cuts which would result in the loss of many jobs.

Haringey Friends Of Parks Forum was outraged to discover funding to the borough's services will be halved this year and some park depots will be closed or leased out to street cleaning teams.

During a consultation, park staff and council workers were told about plans for compulsory

Groups mobilising to stop cuts to parks jobs redundancies. The forum has launched a petition to convince Haringey Council to reverse the £1million cuts to the green spaces and staff. An action group was formed in Bruce Castle Park, Tottenham, where members have their own petition to defend their staff and depot. Markfield Park, Chestnuts Park and Ducketts Common have also taken similar action. A Haringey Council spokeswoman said: "Because of government cuts to our budget, we're having to make tough decisions about services across the council.

We're working with the Haringey

Friends Of Parks Forum and other park users on how we can all mitigate the impact of these cuts."

It is believed that the council's final decision will be made on May 19. For further information on the campaign, visit www.haringeyfriendsofparks.org.uk

Young mother stabbed in road

Tributes left after Zandra tried to flee killer

By Rykesha Hudson

A YOUNG mother was stabbed repeatedly to death as she fled for her life in the streets of Tottenham.

Zandra Maxwell-Nelson, 24, of Nicoll Road, Harlesden, was attacked in Durban Road, and as she took shelter in a parked car on April 20 at 6pm.

It was reported that she was knifed 15 times. She was taken to the Royal London Hospital in Whitechapel by ambulance but she died two hours after the brutal attack.

Police are investigating why Ms Maxwell-Nelson was in Tottenham and the events leading up to the stabbing.

Floods of heart-felt messages have been posted on a Facebook tribute page to Ms Maxwell-Nelson, including a message from her sister Afiya.

She wrote: "My special sister. I miss you so much. Everyone misses you." Ms Maxwell-Nelson's nephew wrote: "Can't believe you're gone Aunty Zandra. Can't believe how someone could just take you away from me like that. I'll never get over the fact that you're gone because I feel like I've lost a piece of me."

A message from friend Natalie Cameron read: "Hurt and disgusted as there is no justified reasoning behind the acts that ended our dearest Zandra's life."

Her workmate, Amy-Jo Griffin, said: "This is too tragic. No one can quite believe it. I know you'll be looking down on your family and your boys."

Another message said: "It still hasn't sunk in yet. May you rest in peace."

□ Nathaniel Brown, 26, of no fixed abode was charged with murder on April 22. He is due to appear at the Old Bailey on June 23.

SPECIAL FEATURE

in association with The National Lottery

Next Tuesday's, Yes Tuesday's, EuroMillions Mega-Jackpot is £85 Million*

EuroMillions is launching its new Tuesday draw with a stunning £85 million* jackpot on 10 May. The game, which has created Britain's biggest lottery winners, will now have two draws every week – Tuesday and Friday.

The new Tuesday draw is part of some exciting changes to the game which are designed to deliver just what players want - bigger jackpots and even more winners.

Welcome to my world: watch out for new EuroMillions TV adverts

EuroMillions is now twice a week

EuroMillions is launching a new Tuesday draw next week (10 May), with a stunning £85 million* jackpot. The special draw not only marks EuroMillions moving to two draws a week, but also other changes to the game which are designed to create bigger jackpots and even more winners. A sales frenzy is expected for the first draw, as players have just four days to buy their tickets (from when they go on sale on Saturday 7 May to the draw next Tuesday, 10 May) to ensure they don't miss out on the chance to become the first big Tuesday EuroMillions winner.

As well as the new Tuesday draw, a new prize tier will be introduced where players will win an estimated £2.70 for matching just two main numbers. Players will now also be able to choose from 11 Lucky Star numbers, as opposed to nine, and there will be two guaranteed millionaires created by the EuroMillions Millionaire Raffle each week here in the UK. The overall odds of winning a prize on the game shorten from 1 in 24 to 1 in 13 – with the total number of prizes every week in Europe expected to more than double from 1.9 million a week to 4.6 million.

A EuroMillions spokesperson said; "Now you can win giant EuroMillions jackpots twice a week – Tuesday and Friday. By next weekend you could be propelled into the exclusive world of the jet set, and with £85 million up for grabs you could take your family and friends with you."

"EuroMillions has really captured the public's imagination, creating numerous multi-million pound winners in the UK, as well as boosting returns to the Good Causes here in the process. The changes to the game ensure players continue to get the huge Rollovers and giant jackpots they love, and the chance to win twice a week."

If no-one matches all five main numbers and two Lucky Star numbers to win the jackpot in next Tuesday's first draw, then it will roll to the Friday draw just three days later (13 May). All nine EuroMillions countries will introduce the changes to the game. EuroMillions tickets in the UK will continue to cost £2 and include Millionaire Raffle.

* Jackpot is an estimate, subject to currency fluctuations. National Lottery Games Rules and Procedures apply. You must be aged 16 or over to play or claim a prize.

 Subject to currency fluctuations.

EuroMillions Facts £85 million would buy you...

- 3,617 Rolex Daytona watches
- 10,210 yellow and white gold and diamond Tiffany necklaces
- 150,442 pairs of Christian Louboutin shoes
- 899,470 bottles of Dom Perignon 2002 champagne
- 534kg of Almas beluga caviar
- 16,617 nights (45 years!) staying in the Prince of Wales Suite at the Ritz
- 8,500 first class return flights to New York

How to play and win on EuroMillions

- Pick five main numbers from 1-50 and now pick two Lucky Star numbers from 1-11, or choose a Lucky Dip® for a random selection of numbers
- There is now an extra prize level meaning you start to win prizes by matching just two main numbers.
- EuroMillions costs £2 for each line of numbers and can be played up to four weeks in advance
- It includes the Millionaire Raffle game, which means every draw one lucky UK player will win £1m – guaranteed. That's 104 guaranteed UK millionaires every year.
- EuroMillions tickets are available from your local National Lottery retailer, you can play online at www.national-lottery.co.uk or even on your mobile phone.
- If no one matches all five main numbers and two Lucky Star numbers to win the jackpot on 10 May then the massive jackpot will roll over to the EuroMillions draw on Friday 13 May
- To find out the winning numbers check the results at www.national-lottery.co.uk

Khoai makes a Nam for itself over the war stories

The Gannets

Khoai Café, 6 Topsfield Parade, Middle Lane, Crouch End 020 8341 2120

ATTENDING Khoai with Alf Gannet must be the culinary equivalent of a few days spent with a gnarled, old Vietnam vet.

Story after story spills from his beak relating to his feast in the east... to make a pain in my ear!

But, endless anecdotes aside, it does allow for some expert opinion on this Crouch End eatery, and the fact Alf said he will be "back for more" is one of the greatest of compliments – though whether we will return with him depends if we can get our claws on some duct tape or not!

First up, the interior is pretty basic but pleasant in an easy-listening-Burt-Bacharach kind of way with subtle soft furnishings, perhaps to mirror the subtlety of the fine food which was coming our way.

"Now... let me tell you about the noodles in Hanoi" was, fortunately, interrupted by the arrival of deep fried aubergines (£3.35), summer rolls (£4.10) and honey-coated pork spare ribs (£4.10).

Best, by an eastern mile, were the summer rolls consisting of prawn and crabstick wrapped in rice paper. Lovingly made they were complemented by a peanut sauce which Alf greedily bathed his lips in. There was probably not enough meat on the ribs as he was used to in Saigon but the aubergines and soya dipping sauce more than made up for that when these lightly battered sources of loveliness arrived.

Pausing, for a golden second or two, Alf started up again about the "Pigs' ears in Nam Dinh" but, once again, was interrupted by the speedy arrival of our mains: Bun Thit Nuong (£8.65) consisting of a sizzling platter of pork for me, Ha Noi Grilled Fish (£11.25) for Alf, and Pho (£6.55) a rice noodle soup in a rich chicken and beef broth for Gamey Gannet.

Annoyingly, there was far more sizzle for Alf's dish than for mine but the rich mix of herbs and spices complementing my marinated pork more than made up for the theatrical effect of his, admittedly, impressive fish which caused a few heads to turn on a busy Monday night.

Vet project:
Khoai Café

"Now, when I had a similar dish in Lao Cai..." was quickly halted by Gamey thrusting a spoon full of her soup in his mush which ended another rambling story as we then dissected the delicious broth of basil, chilli, lime, beansprout and other succulent ingredients.

Washed down with some good green tea and we left far more in love with the café than our companion...

EURO BID IS IN THE BALANCE

By Dominique Stafford

TOTTENHAM HOTSPUR are in danger of missing out on any European football next season following Saturday's controversial 2-1 defeat at Chelsea.

Having been in with a genuine chance of securing a spot in the Champions League for most of the campaign, Saturday's result, coupled with Liverpool's 3-0 win over Newcastle, has seen them slip behind the Reds into sixth place in the Premier League table – a position which will only be good enough to qualify for the Europa League if Manchester City win the FA Cup and fail to finish in the top four.

However, Spurs can feel somewhat aggrieved to have left Stamford Bridge empty handed after falling victim to two poor decisions from the assistant referees.

Spurs took the lead through a spectacular strike from Sandro – their only shot on target during the match – and held the advantage until the stroke of half-time.

Frank Lampard's shot from distance should have been comfortably held by Heurelho Gomes, but the error-prone keeper let the ball squirm through his legs and, although he appeared to grab hold of it just before the whole of the ball had crossed the line, the assistant referee awarded the goal.

And, to compound Tottenham's misery, Salomon Kalou appeared to be in an off-side position when he scored Chelsea's 89th-minute winner.

"It's unbelievable we've not got the technology," a frustrated manager Harry Redknapp said. "We can put a man on the moon but we can't decide if a ball crossed the line – it's beyond belief."

"The linesman made a wrong call, it hadn't crossed the line. He guessed wrong – not purposely, it was an honest decision but it's so difficult."

"They've got a hell of a job. He was around the 18-yard line when the ball was on the line – you can't see from there. That goal in the last minute was offside, so we didn't get the rub of the green."

"We have to keep moving forward. The club can't say we haven't made the Champions League and pull up stumps and throw in the towel."

Costly error: Heurelho Gomes' mistake led to Chelsea's controversial first goal on Saturday

Ally Pally is set for big night of top-class boxing

BIG-TIME boxing returns to Alexandra Palace on Saturday night when the famous venue hosts the inaugural international event in the popular Prizefighter series.

Eight fighters from around the world will be taking part in the heavyweight tournament, with reigning United Kingdom champion Michael Sprott flying the flag for this country.

Sprott will take on American Tye Fields in the quarter-finals, while the event also features American Kevin Johnson – who took Vitali Klitschko the distance in a world title fight – reigning French champion Gregory Tony, unbeaten Cuban Mike Perez, Romanian Lucian Bot, Germany's Konstantin Airich and Kerston Manswell from Trinidad.

"This event has been bubbling up for over a year now, and I am so excited we have finally made it happen," said promoter Eddie Hearn. "As Prizefighter starts its international expansion, this flagship event couldn't have come at a better time."

"As always the line-up combines an eclectic mix of prospects, champions and characters, as these eight men look to fight their way into contention for a shot at the world heavyweight title."

Tickets for Prizefighter International Heavyweights cost £35 for unreserved seating, £50 and £60 for ringside seating and £120 for VIP seating and are available on 01277 359900.

Could you look after me?

A wide range of children and young people need someone to look after them.

Supported Fostering Services (SFS) is a registered charity working in your community supporting people like you to offer children and young people a better start in life.

Rated 'Outstanding' by Ofsted SFS has a qualified social work team to offer guidance and support 24 hours a day. The comprehensive training programme helps carers draw on their life experiences and develop new skills to meet the needs of children in the care system.

Fostering can be a rewarding and challenging experience helping children and young people grow and develop to their full potential. There are many different types of fostering so whether you're a single person, a couple or larger family someone needs your help. A generous weekly allowance of £385 is paid for each child.

Carers are being recruited in your area right now. For more information and an informal chat call today or check out the website.

Sarah was 18 when she gave birth to John. She couldn't stay at home and as a young mum needs support and guidance as she learns to look after John. Supported Fostering Services offers training for carers to help young people like Sarah develop their parenting skills and assess shortfalls.

Jack, Julia and Cullen need a family so they can live together. Their birth parents have some problems at home and can't look after them properly right now. The children need a safe caring home until they either return home or are fostered permanently.

Simon is 11 years old and has a learning disability so he can often find it difficult to concentrate for long. He attends a special needs school locally. He needs carers who have an interest or experience of a learning disability within their family or from their work.

Keisha is 14 years old and needs a family who are able to listen and understand what's going on for her. She has missed quite a lot of school but with help and support should be able to catch up. She struggles to accept boundaries and curfews but is making steady progress.

Care for a little character?

Do you like working with children and enjoy the character they bring to life?

Hundreds of children in your community need a temporary home and someone to care for them.

We are recruiting carers from a wide range of backgrounds. We are interested if you have a spare bedroom and can look after children.

Supported Fostering Services is a registered charity rated Outstanding by Ofsted.

If you can offer a child a caring home we will give you: Find out more by calling your local SFS office.

- specialist services for the child

Fostering. Care for a little character?

People from all walks of life can become foster carers. In fact, at SFS we actively seek a whole range of people to match the different needs and backgrounds of the children we foster.

There are no formal qualifications required. We welcome applications from people from different ethnic and cultural backgrounds.

You don't have to be married or own your own house, but you must have at least one spare bedroom that is just for fostering.

There's no set age range, but we do expect people to be mature enough to work with the complex issues that the children may have, and fit enough to perform this very demanding task.

Can you care for a disabled child?

'Witnessing a child with complex needs respond positively to family routines and structure that's the biggest positive.'

Jackie, SFS Foster Carer

Some disabled children are not able to live at home with their birth families. For many reasons these children require a foster family, who can support and encourage them to reach their potential and live a fulfilling and rewarding life.

Fostering a disabled child can be very challenging. Some children have a range of special needs including a learning disability, autism, a physical disability or health care needs. These children need foster carers with special skills who can help them develop and acquire new skills! The rewards can be huge.

We are particularly interested in people who have experience in the disability field, with family members or in work. As well as people with a nursing or medical background.

SFS provides 24 hour support for any problems or issues that occur outside of office hours and a comprehensive training program.

Many people do not have the time to be a full time foster carer but have space in their lives to provide shared care. SFS runs a shortbreak/shared care placement scheme supporting carer's who provide regular respite.

Some disabled children require a carer who can look after them at weekends or during school holidays to give their parents a break but more importantly give them opportunities to explore new activities, help them develop their independence and to make friends.

Fostering allowances and benefits vary. Supported Fostering Services offers a weekly allowance between £385 and £770 per child, pro rata for respite carers.

To find out more about fostering a disabled child or becoming a shortbreak carer please contact us or drop in at our open day.
